

Video title:

Do students need a tech background to succeed in cyber?

Transcript:

Absolutely not. We're looking for people from lots of different backgrounds. The reason that the bursary scheme is there is absolutely to harness people from different sectors and take that passion and bring it into the industry. So absolutely not, diversity of thought is really important.

Privacy statement:

Please note that the views and information expressed were prepared in a personal capacity. As such, they are reflective of the individual and are not representative of any official policies, positions or opinions held by BAE Systems Applied Intelligence.